CAMDEN EAST.

A very solemn and impressive funeral took place at St. Luke's Church Camden East when all that was mortal of Mrs. Wm. Smith, was laid to rest Monday, December 11th. The dignified and beautiful burial office of the the Church of England breathing hope and inspiration was read by the Rav. E. Radcliffe who also preached a sermon. Hymns 254, 257, 249, were well rendered by the organist and choir. The congregation was very large and attentive one. The pall bearers were the three sons of Mrs. Smith, Roy, Orval and Everton, Albert Williamson, Frederick Eagle and Frank Troumper. A handsome floral tribute was laid on the coffin. The deepest sympathy is felt in the community for Mas. Smith and family,

The returns at the annual missionary meeting were most gratifying in the aggregate, Camder East $34.57, Yarker, $111.34, Newburgh $33,17, making a total of $178.78. Archdeacon Carey of Kingston, was pleased and expressed himself as having spent a most delightful Sunday in the Parish.

Step down and out is the voice to be heard from the Electors here to the Municipal Council and the Managers of the Cheese Factory. It is said that every other Factory in the County has besten them in the sales of Cheese for Oct. and perhaps for the season. Tis said that they are growing old and childish in their office, and a change must be made before they die in their tracks, but of course they think that when they die that the factory will stop as when they die that the factory will stop as no other can be found to do the business when they are dead, Take a boy out of the school any day and he will beat these old men in figures. And as to the sale of cheese the cheese sells itself. The buyer comes and says what he will give and that is the end of it. The cheese is shipped without foresight of rise or fall in the marhave been arrogant and extravagant and have raised the taxes and that they shall go too and give place for others. ELECTOR.

Fighting Shows Race,

"By the way they fight I can tell men's nationality," said a policeman. Englishman, when he is going to fight, throws his hat and coat in a blustering, bluffing way on the ground. A Scot pulls his hat down tight on his head and buttons his coat carefully. The canny Scot is not going to endanger any of his property. An Irishman appeals to the crowd to hold his cont. The Celtic nature desires sympathy and tries to build it up. A German, methodical, precise, folds his coat in a neat bundle and lays his hat on top of it to hold it down. An American is so anxious to pitch in and have the thing over that he starts fighting without giving a thought to hat or coat."

It is Said That Revolutionists Will Shortly Proclaim Themselves Acting Government.

GOING FROM BAD TO WORSE.

London, Dec. 11.—A St. Petersburg despatch to the Daily Mail, sent by way of Eydkuhnen, Sunday, says that five Ministers, including Count Witte and M. Durnovo, Minister of the Interior, requested the Capt to accent their resignations. His Czar to accept their resignations. His Majesty refused.

The revolutionists. it is declared. will shortly proclaim themselves the acting Government. They will divide Russia roughly into a thousand electoral districts. Meanwhile the Government fears to act with vigor, only arresting a few leaders and liberating them the next day. The Strike Committee continues its ter-rorism. It renders the life of "blackrorism. It renders the life of "black-legs" intolerable, beating and killing them on the streets. Cossacks who intervened to-day were put to flight by a shower of bomb-cases contaning messages stating that loaded bombs would follow. The state of the army grows worse daily.
Sixteen thousand men of the garrison at Kharkoff have mutinied. leading columns of the Manchurian army, which have just arrived at Moscow, are mutinous and have been disarmed. The whole 12th Naval Battalion has been hurried to Cronstadt under a guard of 4,000 troops Some of the 18th Battalion of the 8th Naval Corps hape also been conveyed to Cronstadt, where the forts contain 7,000 naval mutineers, disarmed, but defant. The Ministry of Marine has decided to abolish all naval barracks in St. Petersburg.

The Revolutionary Committee has published an announcement that all are well organized for the test bloods.

are well organized for the fast bloody struggle against the Government. A hundred thousand of the better class of Russians have fled abroad in the last ten days. The worst feature the situation is the ever-growing violence of the agrarian outrages.

In a despatch sent from St. Petersburg Saturday, the St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph says that the telegraph and postal strike really ended on that day. The offi-cials returned on terms dictated by the Government. The authorities are tightening the reins of Government. The telegraph strike is ended.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Morning Post, in a despatch dated Saturday, says the Czar has issued a significant order expressing thanks to the Cossack forces for the control of the Cossack forces. thinks to the Cossack forces for their self-sacrificing, untiring and loyal services to himself and the ountry, not only at the theatre of war, but in upholding order in the interior of the empire.

STRIKE LEADER ARRESTED.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says:—The Czar and Count Witte have sanctioned a step which the revolutionists foresaw. President !..

are now inundated with leaflets signed by the War Department of the Re-volutionary Committee promising volutionary the army, if it effect a revolution, a status and emoluments opposed to reason and impracticable in any disciplined force. It is probable that this exuberance will defeat its own ends, but the circulation of such pamphlets does not allay the fears here which are exceedingly acute.

REFUGEES TO AMERICA.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times telegraphs on Friday:—"The Polish journals state that 10,000 Russian refugees are now seeking an asylum in Cracow. The Jewish quater is overcrowded and committees are preparing to forward many of the newcomers to England and America.

WOMEN AS POSTAL CLERKS.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says:-The attempt of the aristocrats to aid the Government in carrying on the postal service in the fashionable quarter of the capital continues. A number of titled and other high-born women are assisting under the leadership of the Duchess of Leuchtenburg. Her coadjutors include Baroness Frederics, wit, of the well known Minister of the Imperial House; Princess Ourussoff and Princess Trubatikoi. They drive cess Troubetzkoi. They drive to the central post-office in private carroutine work. The strikers of Wednessay stopped two of the automobiles, compelled the occupants to alight, and then wrecked the cars.
One of the drivers aimed a revolver at the foremost strikers. He was immediately disarmed and severely

The Council of Workmen's Delegates have distributed leaflets urgans workers to withdraw their deposits workers to withdraw their deposits workers to withdraw their deposits from the savings banks. The elect if they comply may be calculated from the tact that there are more than 5,000,000 depositors, while the cash deposits amount to 943,000,-000 roubles, in addition to deposits of securities to the amount of 215,-000,000 roubles.

TEN KILLED, MANY HURT.

Overland Limited, on Union Pacific, Collides with Freight.

Omaha, Neb., despatch says: An Omaha, Neb., despatch says: On the Union Pacific Railroad, two miles east of here M7t etaoi etaionetoaiets morning, the Overland Limited Express, crowded with passengers, collided with a fast fruit-carrying freight. The express was thrown into a deep ditch, and was partially Lurned. Ten persons was partially Lurned. Ten persons were killed outright, and eight were injured. All of those killed were members of the train crew, while all the injured were passengers, none of whom, it is said will die.

The cause of the accident was a mistake in orders by the conducter of the freight. The two locomotives were completely demolished, and the cars pfled up over them, those of the Overland Limited being shunted into a deep ditch. The baggage, mail, and dining cars were splintered into kindling wood, which took fire and burned until the heap was entirely destroyed, together with the baggage and the mail.

President Khronstaleff, of the Executive Com-President Anronstaien, of the Executive Committee of the workmen's delegates, and several other members of the committee were arrested on Sunday afternoon at the house where they were meeting. The other members are already communicating with the Railwaymen's Union for the purpose of bringing about a general strike

Count Witte's definite ado; tion a repressive policy has apparently only intensified popular sympathy with the strikers, who are receiving added subscriptions to their funds.

BEFUSED TO FIRE.

A despatch from Warsaw says:—
The ferment among the troops is increasing. A hundred soldiers of the Kexholm Regiment headed a procession on Sunday morning singing revolutionary songs. In Mars-altor Street their way was barred by a detachment of the Grochows I Regiment, the commander of which ordered his men to fire. The soldiers refused to do so, and procession to pass.

The commanding of the commanding officer then fied. procession to pass. ing officer then fled.

A rumor is current that the whole garrison of the Warsawscitadel has mutinied. It is impossible to verify the rumor, as the authorities recuso admission to the fortress.

TROOPS READY TO RISE.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says:-A meeting was held here on Friday by the Social Revolutionary party. Agents of the party who ar rived from the south, reported that the troops were ready to rise, and were only awaiting the signal from St. Petersburg. The Novoe Dyism, a revolutionary paper, published despatches confirming these reports, which it received from telegraph opwhich it received from telegraph op-erators, who refused to give them to the Government. These despatches state that the port of Novorossisk, on the east coast of the Black Sea, is controlled by mutinous soldiers, who are maintaining order. They are calcing the macking to bein them. asking the workmen to join them.

Mutinous troops at Catherinodar in the Caucasus, have select the arsenal and 16,000 rifes. They are distributing the arms to the workmen there and at Novorossisk. A similar rising has begun at Sebastopol.

The nervousness of the Ministry of

The nervousness of the Ministry of War is indicated by the annulment of the sentence of death passed upon three leaders of the strike of the engineers employed on the Touschn fortress in the Caucasus, who were convicted by a court-martial. Their comrades communicated with the Luton of Unions which positively the comrades communicated with the Union of Unions, which notified the Government that unless the sentence was with-drawn a general railroad strike would be called. This threat extracted the announcement on Fri-day that the Minister of War refused to confirm the sentence.

Strikes have begun on the railway between Kursk and Kharkoff and Sebastopol and the line from Kieff to Poltava.

TEMPORARY PEACE.

The Odessa correspondent of The London Times telegraphs to-night:— "Everything is at a standstill and business is paralyzed for want a means of communication. The strike epidemic is spreading to the oddest circles, infringing even upon the work of chambermaids, scullions and house porters. Judging from the policy of the local papers, which together with the revolutionary pamphlets, are the sole pilot of public opinion, all classes are to be incited to bay at the moon. The course of the bureau-cracy was ruled by circulars and the honest endeavors of the Progressives will be thwarted by the circulars and the authorists which pamphlets of the extremists which promise the impossible or urge t'13 ignorant classes to demand it.

GEN, SAKHAROFF SLAIN.

A despatch from St. Petersburg A despatch from St. Petersburg says:—Gen. Sakharoff, who succeeded Gen. Kouropatkin as Minister of War, and who recently resigned, was murdered at Saratoff, whither the Government had sent him to suppress the agrarian riots and pacify the peasantry. He was staying at the residence of the Governor, where a woman called and asked to see hir... She was admitted, and upon enter-ing fired three shots from a revolver at the ex-Minister, who was instantly killed. The murdress is a member of the terrorist section of the revolutionists, one of whose dogmas is the abolition of capital punishment. Non-official papers print harrowing details of the actions of Gen. Sakharoff at Saratoff, including the whipping of peasants, whom he was sent to pacify. The tidings reached St ping of peasans, to pacify. The tidings reached so retersburg Wednesday night. Count Witte charged Lieut-Gen. Rudinger, Minister of War, with the task of breaking the news to Madame Sakharoff. The event has created a pro-found impression in St. Petersburg, owing to fears that the revolutionists here will follow the example thus

The inland telegraph line was opened on Wednesday. A cordon of soldiers with fixed bayonets held the office. Messages were accepted for only a few towns. It is illustrati e of the Russian character that a majority of the mersages were felicita-Christian name of Catherine.

A meeting of postal employes, which was arranged for Wednesday afternoon, was prevented by placing two battalions of infantry and two sonins of Cossacks around the meetsocials of cossess around the meeting place.

Some young relatives of highly-placed tchinorni's Government employes; attempted to distribute letters in a fashionable quarter of the city. They included youths from the Imperiat Pag s' School and the young daughters of the heads of Government departments. They were not molested, but the effect of their work was not appreciable. The city is still without mails.

OFFICERS FRIGHTENED.

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The London Daily Mail, in a despatch sent by way of Eydtkuknen, East Prussia, says:—
"Prominent military commanders everywhere are requesting permission to resign. The Minister of War himself (Lieut.-General Rudiger) has asked the Emperor to allow him to re-tire. The Minister of the Interior tire. The Minister of the Interior (M. Durnovo) and others have followed the example of the Minister of War. Count Witte stands alone, but even he is losing heart."

COST OF "A LITTLE" WAR.

Germany's African Loss Greater Than in the Danish War.

A despatch from Berlin says: tics collected by the Militair Wochenblatt give the following losses sustained up to the present by the German forces engaged in suppressing the native rising South-west Africa: Eighty-three officers, 175 non-commisdied through illness, and 30 through accidents, making a total of 1.048, or 143 less than in the present African cam-paign. Then 1,705 men were wounded, but recovered.

Sixtytwo thousand men were engaged against Denmark, and 16,000 are employed in South-West Africa

Million Dollars.

A Montreal despatch says: Ten mil-Reserve offi- lion dollars is the amount of increase in the exports of Canadian cheese and butter this year over last year, accord-ing to the estimate published in the Montreal Gazette. The value of exports of these two products is estimated at more than thirty million dollars. Exports of cheese from Montreal this season amounted to 2.121,101 boxes, an increase of 6,662 boxes, but a decrease of 274,831 boxes from 1903. These ex-274,831 boxes from 1903. These ex-ports represented in money $18,029,358, an increase of $3.649.813 over last year and a decrease of $3,534,030 from 1903. Both make and price in 1903 were greater than this year. The average price this year was 88.50 a box; last year it was $6.80 and in 1903 $9.

In butter the increase was large, both in amount and in returns therefrom. The total export from Montreal was 573.449 packages, an increase of 85,449 packages over last year, and 235,172 packages over 1903. The average price this year was 21½ cents a pound, making a total value of $1,507,402, an increase of $2,455,268.

WONDERFUL GOLD FIND.

Strike Took Place in the Laurentian Mine at Manitou.

A Wabigoon, Ont., despatch says: In formation has arrived from Manitou of the most extraordinary strike of gold that has ever been found in the district. The strike occurred at the Laurentian The strike occurred at the Laurentian mine, one mile from Gold Rock, which had just recently been re-opened after the close of litigation proceedings. A couple of shots put in by the miners while drifting from the north side of the shaft at the 85-foot level on Tuesday last did the business and exposed gold of middly value. The president metalof unfold value. The precious metal could be twisted off in pencils or gouged out in silver-dollar thicknesses. In fact, it was asserted that the rock was in fact, it was asserted that the rock was only held together by the gold with which it was permeated. It is just two years ago since ore assaying nearly $30.000 to the ton was struck at a depth of 25 feet in the same shaft. The exposure of Tuesday last would apparently indicate a six-figure assay.

Melaschon.

A Shelburne, Ont., despatch says: Wednesday night all the members of the tamily of James Coulter, lot 19, concession 8, north-east of the Toronto and Sydenham road, Melancthon Township, were alive and in their usual health; Thursday the only one left is a married daughter, who lived several lots away from the homestead, Coulter having murdered his wife, his fourteen-year-old daughter, and his seven-year-old son, and afterwards suicided.

The deed appears to have been committed shortly after dinner. Coulter had a load of oats at the barn door ready to start for Melancthon Station. What caused him to change his mind and turn instead to his terrible deed of and turn instead to his terrible deed of blood is, of course, not known, but it was in the barn that he commenced his frenzied work by killing his son with an axe. He then proceeded to the house, secured a revolver, and shot his wife and daughter, afterwards setting fire to the bedding, apparently determined to cover the traces of his crime before he shot himself. SAW SMOKE COMING OUT.

A neighbor passing by on the road had his attention attracted by the smoke, and on entering the house found Coulter face downward on the floor. Further investigation brought to light the other house the country of the horrifying details. A doctor was immediately summonded from Horning's Mills, but could do nothing for any of the unfortunate victims, Coulter and his wife being dead when the doctor arrived, and the boy and girl passing away without regaining consciousness.

The deceased's half-brother, who live in the same neighborhood, when inter-viewed, could think of no possible ex-planation for his brother's terrible act, other than a possible worrying and brooding over the recent sale of his farm and the purchase of another propof his erty. He had wished to withdraw from the bargain made for the purchase of the other farm, offering to pay $100 to have the deal declared off.

WORK AGAINST THE SCALE.

As an experiment I sprayed a lot of young apple and plum trees with the K. L. (kerosene and limoid) mixture of the 20 p.c. strength of oil, writes Mr. W. H. Skillman. I did the mixing myself and was very careful to get a thorough combination of the oil and limoid; the trees were thoroughly drenched. I find it killed some of the scale, but not enough to call it a success. In fact, I look upon it as a failure as I used it I was afraid to use more oil in the mixture. I have in the past killed or injured many trees with oil applied in different ways.

I depend upon the lime, sulphur and salt mixture entirely to hold the scale in check. Last spring I sprayed 1400 trees with it. I did not kill all the scale, and I never expect I will hut with more use of the I. Si all the scale, and I nover expect I will, but with proper use of the L & S mixture, I do think I can grow fruit. .

I used 80 pounds stone time, pounds sulphur and 20 pounds The lime and sulphur should b best. I made the sulphur into smooth paste and slaked the into 15 gallons of hot water and put in the sulphur paste with it, thus getting the heat of the slaking lime This saved much time. The lime should be well stirred to prevent burning; when lime is slaked throv t into a tank containing 85 gallons hot water and boil until proper color is obtained. Put it into the spray tank and apply.

If this is properly made and thoroughly applied, it will kill the scale on any kind of a tree. The idea that the scale is harder to kil. on the apple and pear than it is on peach and plum is an absurdity. The above solution if properly made will kill the scale if it hits it, no matter where it is I am often asked why this mixture is effective for some ond not for others. The openion is it. and not for others. The answer is, it all depends upon "The man behind all depends upon the gun." A litt the gun." A little mistake or care-lessness in making the solution will annual its electiveness, but I be-lieve the most failures are caused by lack of thoroughness in its application.

Conditions have been very favorable for insect growth. Never have I seen the scale increase and spread so rapidly as the past season. scale problem is, indeed, a s scale problem is, indeed, a sorious matter as it confronts fruit growers at the present time. It is a question whether the ordinary fruit grower will be able to continue in the business. There is a fool idea that scale will run its course and after awhile become extinct. I don't for a moment believe this. There is plenty of proof to the contrary.

Look around and you will see plenty of orchards that have gone down before the ravages of this pesky little scale, the very worst plague that was ever met by fruit men Many more orchards will follow unless they are handled more intelligently. This pest is alarmingly on the increase. pest is alarmingly on the increase.

Toronto despatch says: In nouncing his decision to impose a fine of $5,000 each upon the Master Plum-000 each upon the Master Plum-and Steamfitters and the Central bers Supply Association, at the conclusion of the famous conspiracy trial on Friday, Mr. Justice Clute said in part:—
"One hardly knows how to express one's self in reference to disclosures such as we have had in regard to the bonus system. A number of hitherto reputable men meet around a table such as we have had in regard to the bonus system. A number of hitherto reputable men meet around a table and, under the pretence of sending in invited tenders, deliberately adopt a method by which, without apparently the slightest compunction, they took from that portion of the public who happened to be interested, money to which they had no possible claim; no which they had no possible claim; more claim than any person meeting another upon the street, and by force, robbing him of what he had. Indeed, I think that offence rather the least offensive. OF HEADS.

Dyaks are Mild Mannered Savages, Who Take Heads as a Sign of Manhood.

Were some of our political officers in Borneo to write the histories of all the blood feuds with which they have dealt they would fill many and large volumes, for never a tribe but has its two or three, says a writer in Chambers' Journal. Some of these are of fairly modern origin, and their story, as told over the camp fire at night by the "old man" of the tribe, takes but a few minutes to relate, every head lost few minutes to relate, every head lost or gained being carefully ticked off on the fingers, the teller being conscious of a score of younger men squatting round, each of whom would consider the omission of his share in the matter as a personal insult. Others again are of such long standing that their origin is lost in the mists of time, and no man of Telocusan can tell why his village is at a feud with the people of Panawan.

Various causes contribute rise to these blood feuds. Perhaps dur-ing a cattle reiving expedition by the the young bloods of Village B a man of Village B will be killed and his head taklage B will be killed and his head taken to adorn the long house at A. The villagers of B, bidling their time (for these are jungle folk, and not courageous), will take a party of A people at a disadvantage, and the roofbeam of the long house of B has a heavier weight to carry. Then a blood feud is declared, and it becomes the bounden duty of every B man (note the emphasis) to collect the head of every A person that he can manage to fall upon without much risk to himself; and vice versa. Each village keeps count vice versa. Each village keeps count of its score by if might be at advantage to settle matters and make friends with B. The Chief laughs at the idea but all the same, it sinks in, and the old man finds himself thinking how good it would be to be able to trade and search for suttle and relating in the rich country. for gutta and rotan in the rich country round his rival's village.

No more is said, but the white man finas himself shortly in Village B, and the process is repeated. The next step is a meeting between the two tribes, a ste" only gained by almost superhuman patience and tireless diplomacy on me part of the political officer. First A will turn up in full force; but the omens will turn in in full force; but the offens are bad for B, and the meeting falls through. Next time it is B who comes up to the scratch, and A finds an objection. Finally after lengthy negotiations, they meet, both sides fully afmed and equally suspicious, and the white man, sitting cool and collected, opens the palayer.

First the score is counted up on both sides, and his heart sinks as he hears that there is a difference of opinfon. A claims that B owes three heads; B admits only two. Voices are raised, and the "political" anxiously watches the shades of expression playing like ripples on water over the faces of the real o of the men. He detects little signs of feeling invisible to the eye of the inexperienced onlooker, and keeps the peace with a joke here, a proverb there and rarely, very rarely, with a few WORDS OF STERN REBUKE.

At last the score is settled; b ones to two heads, and A will be content to heads, with two slaves. It is At last the score is settled; B owes A equare matters with two slaves. It is explained gently that the Government (in Malay parentah, an expressive word) will not countenance the barter however, is far from being the case, and the native of the far interior is in and the native of the far interior is in reality a very mild savage, whose principal vice is the habit of becoming extremely intoxicated on a fermented drink which he makes from a far too large portion of his rice crop.

We will briefly analyze the first of the two reasons given above for which the young "buck" sallies forth on a head hunt. Undoubtedly, in days gone by the possession of a head implied that the owner, or rather the new owner, had successfully met and conquered an enemy. The young brave swaggered home with his newly-acquired trophy, feeling that he had at last donned the toga virilis and was entitled to marry a wife and join in the councils of the men. Festivities were held, large quantities of tapai (rice wine) were consumed, and the hero of the hour, having taken possession of a room in the "murred" review of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second of a room in the "murred" reviews of the second o the hour, having taken possession of a room in the "married" portion of the long house that shelters the whole of a Dyak village, and found a damsel to share it, would proceed to hang up his head as proudly as his English brother hangs up his first sporting trophy.

Times have deteriorated since these good old days, and to find the reason il faut chercher la feinme. The young metron whose husband had three heads hanging before his room would sneer at the woman whose spouse could boast but two, and the lafter was probably nagged at and badgered (for women are alike the world over) till he went out and procured another. And so by slow degrees the first ques-tion asked by a prospective father-in-law of a suiter for his daughter's hand came to be not. "How much brassware have you?" but "How many heads have you?" and no self-respecting girl you? and no self-respecting girl would look at a man who could not boast his two or three. Well knowing this, the ardent lover would take good care to provide himself with the necessions. And so the game goes on from year to year, and the row of skulls in each village grows longer and longer, this the argument officer, having felt his way for months quietly suggests to the Chief of Athat in might be at advantage to settle mathematical properties. It is to constant the properties of the constant of the properties of the properties

By the recent death of an octogenarian there passed into possession to a young-man in New York a manuscript yellow with age and with the writing almost entirely faded. Years ago, when a young man, the writer of the manuscript devoted his spare time to a compilation of the Bible. The task occupied three years. When he had finished he placed the manuscrip in a Chinese chest. This chest he willed to a friend, who made the following copy of the manuscript:

WORLD'S IVORY SUPPLY.

Comes From Torrid Africa and the Frozen North.

More ivory is sold each year in London than would be produced if all the elephants in the world were kill-ed-not only those in Africa, but in Asia also—and it is lucky, not only for the elephants but the deale s also, that other sources of supply are open besides tusks obtained from living elephants.

True, a large proportion of ivory supply comes from Africa, but this is obtained mainly from the vast stores which have been laid up for generations past by native chiefs The natives also know where the so-called elephant cometeries are—for elephants always go to certain places to die—and there they find great to die-and there numbers of tusks.

Our second most important source of ivory is, strangely enough, the far Arctic. Once the north of Siber-ia had a milder climate than now, and over it ranged great herds of the woolly mammoth.

More than a century ago the first of their tusks were brought from Siberiar to Europe. They had been found projecting from a muddy river bank. To-day the trade is a consid-

Now the weakness of the Oriental for

A buffalo is killed, a stone planted by each tribe and the blood of the beast poured over the stones, fearsome oaths being sworn the while. The ceremony over, the heast is cooked, tapai is produced, and the tired "political," leaving the newly-made friends to make merry together, goes off to his hut, conscious of a day's work done and with the pros-pect of a o good dinner before him, for was not his orderly very prominent at the killing, hovering around to get a tender joint for his master, and inci-dentally for himself? In other words, value of a human life in that part of Borneo was estimated at exactly 30 shillings.

Thus are feuds settled, and the is not far distant when head hunting in Borneo will be a thing of the past. Even now, under the civilizing influpast. ence of one white man in their tribes are buying their heads who in recent years hailed with a week's festivities each addition to their collection. and the "political" notes with quiet pride that the roofbeams of houses long accustomed to bear their glustly fruit bared at his coming. Head hunting as a tribal cusion, is rapidly dying out as the sohere of influence of the Government slowly but steadily extends further and further steadily extends further and further into the interior. DEATH ROLL OF THE SEA.

Great Calamities of the Past Some Twenty-five Years.

A British Blue Book just published furnishes some returns as to the loss of human life through wrecks and casualties to British ships

During the 25 years ending June, 1904, 39,479 persons thus met with their deaths, of whom about 6,000 were passengers.

The return recalls some terrible calamities at sea. In 1901-2 the steamship Camarta, of Glasgow, while on a voyage from Calingapatam to Rangoon, went down with a crew of 82 hands (including 73 Lascars) and 655 native passengers. In 1895-6 247 lives were lost through the wreck of the liner Drummond Castle, and 277 through the sinking of the On Wo, of London, in a collision. In the previous year 1,150 the sinking of the Kow Ski-London.

You had to do the same with the dragon-fly on the next hill—a dragon fly with wings fifty feet long and beaten-out ration-meat tins for its gigantic eyes. You had to do the same in order to realize the Big Lion (properly spelled with capitals). The holes of his nostrils, some fifteen feet wide, were made with matting. Their fleshy part was soldiers' red blankets, for he was a fierce Japanese lion, just now in a red fury. His mane was made of evergreens on the summit of a rocky escarpment. One of the avenues led into the lit-

It had a gar-landed bridge, a huge evergreen arch, and what takes the place of an arch in Japan, a torii, which in this in-stance was formed of Chinese matting covered with cotton cloth. Lining both avenues were alternate pine and cherry-trees, and set between them transparencies made by soldier artists. SIBERIA'S GREAT FUTURE.

Mr. Eden-Zeller Believes That It Will be the World's Great Producer.

"West Siberia will be the America of the future. In spite of the adverse conditions wideawake people of fore-sight will settle and encourage settlement in that part of the country and its great advantage will soon be filt and appreciated."

This is the prediction of Oscar Eden-Zeller, who recently returned from an exploring tour of west, east and north Siberia, extending through a year and a half. He bases his assertion upon the vast extent of Siberia, the adaptability of west Siberia for grain raising and the great practically untouched mineral deposits of east north Siberia.

"West Siberia promises to become the grain belt of the world," Mr. Eden-Zeller says. "The land is su t-Eden-Zeller says. "The land is sut-ed for grain raising and because of its Vast acreage it will ultimately produce grain for all nations.

"Of course, for the time being, only the rich tracts of land situated on both sides of the great Siberian railroad will be considered by set-tlers. It is a splendid tableland, awaiting only the thrifty farmer to bring it into prominence.

DON'T THROW MONEY AWAY

THE SETTING HEN-Her failures have discouraged many a poultry raiser

You can make money raising chicks in the right way-lots of it.

Way—lots of it.

No one doubt that there is money in raising chickens with a good Incubator and Brooder.
Users of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder have all made money. If you still cling to the old idea that you can successfully run a poultry business using the hen as a hatcher, we would like to reason with you.

In the first place, we can prove to you that your actual cash loss in eggs, which the 20 hons should lay during the time you keep them hatching and brooding, will be enough to pay for a Chatham Incubator and Brooder in live or six batches, to say nothing whatever of the larger and better results attained by the use of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder.

If you allow a hen to set, you lose at least

If you allow a hen to set, you lose at least eight weeks of laying (three weeks hatching and five weeks taking care of the chickens, or say in the eight weeks she would lay at least three dozen eggs. Let the Chatham Incubator on the hatching, while the hen goes on laying eggs.

our No. 3 Incubator will hatch as many eggs as twenty setting hens, and do it better. Now, bere is a question in arithmetic:—

If you keep 20 hens from laying for 8 weeks, how much cash do you lose if each hen would have laid 3 dozen eggs, and eggs are worth 15 cents per dozen? Ans, cfore, what the Chester.

Therefore, when the Chatham Incubator is hatching the number of eggs that twenty hens would hatch, it is really earning in cash for you $9.00, besides producing for your profit chicks by the wholesale, and being ready to do the same thing over again the moment each hatch is off same thing over again the moment each hatch is off.

Don't you think, therefore, that it pays to keep the hens laying and let the Chatham Incubator do the hatching!

There are many other reasons why the Chatham Incubator and Brooder outclasses the setting hen.

The hen sets when she is ready. The Chatham Incubator is always ready. By planning to take off a hatch at the right time, you may have plenty of broilers to sell when broilers are scarce and prices at the top notch. If you depend on the hen, your chicks will grow to broilers just when every other hen's chicks are being marketed, and when the price is not so stiff.

The hen is a careless mother, often leading her

The hen is a careless mother, often leading her chicks amongst wet grass, bushes, and in places where rats can conflicate her young. The thatham Brooder behaves itself, is a result of the conflicate where the second is not infested with lice. Altogether, there is absolutely no reasonable reason for continuing the use of a hen as a hatcher and every reason why you should have a Chatham Incubator and Brooder. We are making a very special offer, which it will pay you to investigate.

A Light, Pleasant and Profitable Business for Women

Many women are to-day making an inde-endent living and putting by money every nonth raising poultry with a Chatham Incu-ator.

Any woman with a little leisure time at her disposal can, without any previous experience or without a cent of cash, begin the poultry business and make money right from the start.

Perhaps you have a friend who is doing so. If not, we can give you the names of many who started with nuch misgiring only to be surprised by the ease and rapidity with which the profits came to them.

Of course, success depends on getting a right start. You must begin right. You can never make any considerable money as a poultry raiser with hens as hatchers. Re York County Loan Company.

Editor of The Star : In your issue of Dec. 1st you report Mr. Phillips as saying, "The Toronto Life Insurance Co. is an entirely independent organiza-tion. The York County was not financially interested."

I turn to the insurance report, and on looking over the list of stockholders find the York Connty $10,000 fully I also note the stock was sold at a premium. It would be of interest to know if this was a proper investment for poor people's money ? such funds ought to have been invested in dividend-paying securities.

BREED AS A FACTOR IN FEED-ING ANIMALS.

Nearly every farmer who feeds stock has his favorite breeds, and is firmly convinced that certain breeds are more profitable to feed than others. While there is little doubt that some breeds of stock are better adapted to certain conditions of climate, systems of management, and environment than others, it is a significant fact that when different breeds of flesh producing animals have been fed side by side under the same conditions, no constant difference in favor of any one breed has been discovered, so far as ability to make economical gains is concerned. Even in such extreme cases as where steers possessing considerable dairy blood, have been fed in comparison with steers of the purely beef breeds no marked advantage of economy of gains on the beef breeds has been found to exist. Such a statement seems almost increditable yet investigators have never been able to show that cattle of the beef breeds produce fish more cheaply than those of other breeds. It is only when it comes to marketing the cattle ent classes becomes apparent, the beef breeds producing much superior beef and consequently selling for a much higher price per pound.

Comparisons of the breeds of sheep have not been very fully worked out, but, so far as they have gone, the indications are that the same rule practieally holds true.

In swine the most entensive experiments with breeds have been conducted the Ontario Agricultural College and the Iowa Experiment Station. each of these Institutions six breeds of swine were compared as to the cost of producing 100 pounds gain live weight, and the tables which follow show the standing of the breeds with regard to economy of production in each experi-

If we considered only the Ontario experiment, we would come to the conclusion that the Berkshires, Yorkshires and Tamworths had scored a decided advantage: but when we refer to the lowa experiment, we find the Duroc Jersey and the Yorkshire taking a leading place, while the Tamworth and Berkshire occupy a much less prominent position.

If there is anything in the breed to which swine belong which influences their ability to turn food into flesh, how is it that some one breed did not maintain a position at or near the top of the list throughout these experiments? There is only one logical On looking over the Government answer to this question, and that is, report of loan companies and insurance breed is not a factor in influencing the Toronto Life directors and officers : Jos. Phillips, President ; E. J. Burt, Vice-President; W. Payne, Director, York Loan employe; R.H. Saunderson Director, York Loan employe; V. Robin, Secretary-Treasurer.

You see there is a very close alliance between the two companies; also, inasmuch as all the directors are officials, tney must have voted themselves into office, and also renumeration for the same. It strikes me that there is only one proper course to pursue, and that is for the Attorney-General to place a competent firm of accountants in the office and overhald the concern and get at the the real condition of things.

When it comes to the question of marketing, we find that, as in the case of cattle, there is a marked variation in the kind of meat furnished by some breeds as compared with others. carcasses from swine used in the Ontario experiment were sent to the slaughter house and critically compared by experts, and the following tables show the breeds arranged in order of their suitability for the manufacture of bacon for the English market.

Breeds arranged in order of suitability for the manufacture of Wiltshire

2nd. Exp. 1, Yorkshire,

3rd. Exp. 1, Yorkshire, Tamworth, 3, Berkshire. 4, Poland China, 5, Chester White, Duroc Jersey.

4th. Exp. 1, Yorkshire, 2, Tamworth 3, Berkshire, 4, Chester White, Duroc Jersey, Poland China.

6th, Exp. 1, Yorkshire, 2, Tamworth 3, Berkshire, 4, Duroc Jersey, 5, Polund China, 6, Chester White.

A mere glance shows that there is much more constancy about these tables than the preceding ones. The Yorkshires and Tamworths hold their place at the top of the list in each of these tables, except one, where the Tamworths were placed as low as fourth place. The Chester Whites, Duroc Jerseys and Poland Chinas, appear at the bottom of the list in nearly every case being essentially fat-producbreeds and suitable for the production of the type of hog popular in the United States, but entirely unsuitable for supplying the markets to which Canadian packers cater. The Berkshire, it will be noted, holds a sort of intermediate place between the bacon and fat type. Though unsuitable on and fat type. Though unsuitable on the whole for making the best Wiltshire sides, at the same time it comes nearer to meeting the requirements of the packer than the three American breeds.

The farmer can not afford to shut his eyes to the requirements of the market and the facts brought out in these in vestigations are certninly worthy of his consideration.

My kittens three, were white and gray, Twas hard to keep them clean ; No matter how I worked each day. The kits looked very mean.

They'd go out in the morning clad So tidy and so trim ;

At night, they'd come home looking sad, With clothes so soiled and grim.

I could not keep them tidy, neat, One hour of the day When they were in field or street, With other cats at play.

I then procured the DIAMOND DYES. And made a dye bath hot, And to my kiteens great surprise,

1 dipped them in the pot. To-day, my kittens all are dressed

In Black so rich and deep; I mourn no more, and now am blessed When'er I roam or sleep.

The moral of my song is plain, To women bright and wise ; If you would pleasure, profit gain, Just use the DIAMOND DYES.

DARING OF LIONS.

Incidents to Prove That the Brutes Are Not Cowardly.

It has been said many times that lions are cowardly brutes, but of the many lions with which I have had personal dealings, expectedly and unexpectedly, the epithet cowardly is the last I should consider appropriate in describing them. I have been charged by a lion, and he certainly did not look cowardly. I have come face to face, at a distance of some twenty feet, with a family party of half a dozen, fortu-nately fuil fed. They stood, with quiet dignity, looking at us, and then slowly moved away, stopping every few yards to stand and look again. There was neither fear nor meanness in their appearance or behavior.

I have seen lions stalking game, and I have myself been stalked by them. If I could have encouraged myself with the conviction of their cowardliness

COUGH AND LUNG

"PSYCHINE" differs radically from the old fogey medicines. It is compounded on new and advanced methods of curing disease, otherwise it would be just like scores of others, TROUBLE without any exceptional merits. But "Psychine" possesses virtues of healing, that no other preparation in the world does. There never has been in the history of medicine, such a truly remarkable remedy, for the prompt and complete cure of obstinate coughs and lung trouble. There is nothing else just like it, or nothing else one half so good. Thousands of men and women readily and enthusiastically give testimony to prove the statement.

PSYCHINE BUILT ME UP

Linden, N. S., June 7th, 1904.

"I cannot speak too highly for your excellent—I may say invaluable—remedy for weakness of throat, lungs or declining conditions. My brother, mother, and sister died of consumption, and I suppose I inherited a tendency in this direction, but, thank God, through the use of PSYCHINE I to-day enjoy good health. I suffered for some two years from a distressing, obstinate cough and weak lungs, I used PSYCHINE and OXOMULSION, and they built me right up. My lungs are now strong and I enjoy splendid health. Yours truly,

AT ALL DRUGGISTS-ONE DOLLAR-TRIAL FREE The Dr. T. A. Slecum, Limited, - - / 179 King Street West, Toronto when I was the quarry and they the hunters, it would have put a different aspect on the situation. We were at this time living in a station over seventy miles from the nearest connecting link with the outside world, and when man eating lious took possession of the over road which led to this link thines. one road which led to this link things became serious.

A large troop was reported, and the natives maintained that this troop ravalong in the grass parallel with the caravan road (a path some ten inches wide), and, having selected the most edible member of the caravan, jumped upon him like a flash, and, selzing him, disappeared as quickly as they came.

Our mail runners, attached to whom were a couple of native police armed with rifles, were several times attack-ed. Finally, as the wall party was camping one night, fortunately for it, with a native caravan, the lions became so bold that, in spite of fires, they sprang upon a native and carried him off into the bush.-Mrs. S. WASHING CLOCK FACES.

Some Timepieces Grow Soiled More Quickly Than Others.

"I've been washing the faces of the city clocks nigh on to ten years, I guess," said a pleasant Scotch-Irish-American, "and before that I did it in the old country. There aren't many face washers in this land, and the few who know the business do well at it." He looked prosperous in his tweed suit and derby hat.

"Is your work anything like that of the steeple climber?" he was asked.

"Bless you, no," he replied, with twinkling eye, much amused, "only in one thing, and that is that mostly sailors take up with the trade. That's because we're good climbers, you know. I've washed the faces of city and church clocks that were 180 feet from the ground, and it took me two and three weeks to do it. I'm a practical clock repairer, too-have to be, you know-and do my work in a huge wooden cradle made for the purpose. Some clocks get their faces dirty in a year or so; others remain clean ten years, and so on. Old Ben, Westminster's great clock, is expected to keep clean fifteen years.
"In the old days the trade was more dangerous. We used to work from scaffolds and got many dangerous falls. Now we have the cradles and all the fixings and comforts, and if a man keeps his head he can work as well as on the curb. How is the pay? Well, that's hard to figure, for we work by the job. We don't clean clock faces in winter, so we make enough in the summer to last the year round. Of course sometimes the clocks are taken out of their cases and repaired in the shops. Last year I cleared $2,000 and visited only two other cities, Chicago and Boston. This year I'll make more, because building operations have grimed the clocks and given our trade a lift."

The Word Derrick.

The word derrick for a machine used to lift heavy weights is curiously derived from a London hangman in the beginning of the seventeenth century whose name was Theodoric and who is often mentioned in old plays. rides circuit with the devil, and Derrick must be his host, and Tyborne the inn at which he will light" occurs in "The Bellman of London," published in 1616. The name thus corrupted came afterward to be applied, by an easy transition, to the gallows and later still to any frame or contrivance resembling it in shape.

LELLER TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Editor.—I cannot understand how or why any citizen who has the interests of the town at heart could think of supporting any candidate for the town council other than the retiring members. The people of Napanee are put upon their honor as they never were before. The present council have had to fight their way through the legislature, fight for the by-law before the people and now fight it out again before the conrts. The opposition has been always from the same source, and this opposition is actuated purely by a selfith motive. In spite of this opposition the council have gone on with the work. Why have they done so? Because the people have dealared that they would uphold them in it. How can they do it? There is only one way they can do it, Mr. Editor.-I cannot understand There is only one way they can do it, and that is by re-electing them to office. Mo matter who is brought out against them, evrey citizen, every loyal citizen is in honor tound to vote for the men who have done the work that was given them to do.

Prices For Butterflies.

Butterfly collectors are seldom able to estimate with any confidence the value of their collections, since the prices for specimens so constantly vary. A case in point is that of the blue butterfly of Brazil, specimens of which were originally sold for from $50 to $75. Afterward some collectors who supplied the London market ran into a perfect swarm of these butterflies and shipped to England such quantities that better specimens than the original insects sold for $1 each. It not infrequently happens that two or three specimens of a certain family are discovered by collectors, who, encouraged by the high prices received for their finds, are tempted to prosecute their search for this particular variety without result for several years. Suddenly they or some other collector finds the insects grown plentiful, and the cherished varieties of the cabinet become among the commonest specimens.

Sociable Spiders.

Spiders have been observed in Madras which live in a sponge-like nest of branching network, penetrated internally by canals of communication and furnished with a number of external apertures. The nests, which may be attached either to the tips of branches or to leaves of the prickly pear, are ashy gray in color and constructed of leaves, with an external covering of the usual sticky threads. The spiders are similar in color to their nests. Their inconspicuous, sheet-like webs radiate in all directions, and as many as five or six nests, connected by intermediate webs, may be found on a single plant. The connecting webs, which are very strong, often form tubular bridges between the nests. From forty to a hundred spiders may be found in a single nest, and males and females inhabit the same nest in the proportion of about seven to one.

How the Bulldog Was Evolved.

In the north hall of the British Natural History museum skulls of domesticated dogs are arranged which illustrate the evolution of the modern bulldog from a breed which, according to old pictures, was more of the mastiff type. Bull baiting was a common sport in the thirteenth century, and there is a later record which draws a distinction between bulldogs and mastiffs. Low, in his "Domesticated Animals of

"I have much pleasure in reporting to you the great benefit I have received from taking "Fruit-a-tives"—and I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of a medicine which has done me so much good. I was a martyr to that distressing complaint, chronic constipation accompanied with nevere headaches, backache, sick stomach and all the symptoms of dyspepala. I had also a dreadful complexion, sallow in the extreme and black under the eyes. I had every symptom of kidney Irritation and I had been told by physicians that my kidneys were affected. I consulted a number of physicians and took various remedies but received very little benefit. Last May I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and when I began to take them I had little faith of getting anything to give me permanent relief, but after I had taken half a box of "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better and before I had finished one box the constipation adaches left me, the pain in my back was better and I could sleep as

I began to feel better and before I had finished one box the constipation was relieved, the headaches left me, the pain in my back was better and I could sleep as soundly as when I was child. Also, my complexion began to clear up again, all the sallowness disappeared and the black circles under my eyes went away. The pain in the back gradually left me and all signs of kidney disease disappeared by the first of August after I had taken three bones. Since then I have continued to improve and now I have none of my old symptoms and my appetite is good, digestion splendld and my complexion as clear as when I was a young girl. Also the constipation from which I had suffered so long has been entirely cured and it is not necessary forme to take the "Fruit-a-tives" now as I am quite well in every way. I took no medicine but "Fruit-a-tives" but I followed faithfully the directions in every way. I took no medicine but "Pruita-tives" but I followed faithfully the directions as to diet etc., given in the pamphlet which accompanies each box of "Fruita-tives."

(Sgd.) FLORANCE JAMISON.

Every part of the body is constantly decaying and being renewed. The dead cells, or tissue waste, should be removed by the skin, kidneys and bowels. When these organs do not act regularly, this poisonous matter stays in the system-is taken up by the bloodcarried to heart, liver, stomach, brain and nerves all over the body -and poisons everything it touches.

"Fruit-a-tives" keep each organ clean and healthy. "Fruit-atives" act on the skin, stimulating the millions of minute glands and opening the pores so the waste can escape. They act on the liver sending more bile into the bowels and making the bowels move regularly and naturally every day. They act on the kidneys, strengthening and invigorating these organs and curing all kidney disorders.

A Riot of Ink.

Canon Nicholl used to tell how on one occasion he had visited the famous house of the Thrales in that suburb of London where Dr. Johnson was at home: "Johnson," said the canon in recalling the visit, "had occupied two rooms, and these were left as he last used them. The sight was an extraor-dinary one, for ink was splashed all over the floor and even on the walls. It was one of the doctor's habits to dip his pen in ink and then shake it.'

A Literary Coincidence.
"My father, W. Clark Russell," said
Herbert Russell in teiling of a literary coincidence, "had finished maturing the plot of his novel, 'The Death Ship,' which is a version of the legend of Vanderdecken, I was his amanuensis at the time. He said to me, 'Tomorrow we will begin the story.' On the fol-lowing morning when I entered his study to take his dictation of the opening lines he showed me a letter he had just received. It was from W. S. Gilbert, the well known dramatist, asking him why he did not write a novel about the Flying Dutchman."

Funerals In the Highlands.

A Scottish correspondent writes of funerals in the highlands; "There are no undertakers here. A carpenter makes the simple coffin, relatives and friends carry it, hip high, to its last resting place, which is dug when the end of the journey is reached, and. having walked perhaps six miles to the chosen kirkyard, they take a re-freshment of sandwiches and whisky and walk home again. The rigorous absence of pemp is maintained, but there is the added embellishment of pipe music."

old pictures, was more of the mastiff type. Bull baiting was a common sport in the thirteenth century, and there is a later record which draws a distinction between bulldogs and mastiffs. Low, in his "Domesticated Animals of the British Islands," points out that it is essential that a dog which makes a frontal attack on a bull should be both underhung and short legged, that it may get a firm grip of its antagonist and avoid its horns. We may therefore be sure that, as the bulldog was gradually evolved from the mastiff, these points were held to be of prime importance.

Doomed the Colonel.

Emperor William I. of Germany was a strict disciplinarian. One day during the maneuvers of the army a cavalry regiment charged at a strongly intrenched and embatteried village, of which the garden walls were lined with marksmen. "Look, look." exclaimed the Russian representative. "That regiment is lost." "No," was the emperor's calm reply, "this regiment isn't, but the colonel certainly is." And, was the emperory of the regiment of the regiment isn't, but the colonel certainly is." sure enough, at the close of the maneuvers he was placed on the retired list.

Two Kinds of Boys.

"My son got brain fever from studying too hard," said one mother to another, trying to repress a thrill of intellectual pride.

"That's bad, but my boy broke his leg and two ribs in his first game of football," replied the other, with motherly gratification.

Children's Names In England.

The vicar of Membury, Derbyshire, writes in his parish magazine, "A hundred and thirty-eight baptisms, and I have not yet had a 'Sarah Jane'-that delightful, old fashioned name!"

Amused, as he said, by the vicar's sad wail, a parishioner replies to the vicar, saying the reason is not far to seek. The custom of the parents residing in these parts is to consult with their incumbent regarding the choice of the name for the offspring.

The natural consequence is that all ns name are the associates one gives it when it is pronounced! In history it is recorded as being the scene of one of the fiercest conflicts of the civil war, but to the people who know the origin of the name it is a monument to the memory of a band of devoted, self sacriticing Christian men who, braving the hardships of emigration not for the love of gain, but to help their fellow men, built the Brainard mission on the picturesque heights known by the name of Missionary ridge. It was in 1817 that the Rev. Cyrus Kingsbury, Ainsworth F. Blunt and the Rev. John Vail first viewed the site of their mission. They were sent here by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions, and the same board had provided for the erection of a mission, including school buildings and a home for the missionaries. But the contractors failed in their contract. and the missionaries were left without money and without even a shelter. But by energetic efforts they created a mission school and built a mill on the banks of Chickamauga creek. The mill race, nearly a mile long, is still visible. The mill was purchased by Philamon Bird in 1852. He tore down the small structure and built what is now known as Bird's mill.

On May 27, 1819, the president of the United States, James Monroe, appeared at the door of the mission unaunounced. was accompanied by General Gaines. Although surprised by his visit, the missionaries were ready to receive him, and he complimented them on their work and in glowing terms praised the beautiful location of the mission. The Brainard mission was used until the Indians left. It did an immense amount of good, and at one time there were more than 500 Indian children being taught beneath its roof. The Lord's supper was observed for the last time on Aug. 19, 1838.

In the old mission cemetery east of the ridge, overgrown with weeds and forgotten by almost everybody, is a little monument on which are the following words:

"Here lie the remains of Samuel Worcester, D. D., pastor of the Tabernacle church, Salem, Mass., first secretary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. Born 1770; died June 7, 1821."

The Vizier's Little Joke.

A Frenchman who lived many years in Fez tells how the Moroccans enjoy a joke at the expense of Europeans. An ultimatum had on one occasion been sent to the governor demanding a letter of apology. No letter came, and the French charge d'affaires went to the vizier, Si-Feddin-Garnit, to announce his departure. "Do not go!" cried the vizier. "You are our friend. The letter only needs the sultan's seal. It will be ready tomorrow." It was not ready on the next day or the next, and on the third day the charge d'affaires, after refusing all refreshment, declared that he was leaving Fez immediately, whereupon Si-Feddin-Gar-nit drew the letter from his leathern wallet. "It has been ready for five days," he said. "You see, there was no need for anger."

The Burmese Nirvana.

In "The Silken East" the author, V. C. Scott O'Connor, explains what that much discussed consummation of Nirvana, or neikban, is to the faithful Burmese:

And this neikban, what is it? Eterual extinction or eternal and conscious peace? The everyday Buddhist, in Burma at least, is in no doubt upon the subject, and for the rest, for an exalted idea of paradise, I do not remember to have come upon anything finer than this: "Where the believer expects to find a sure shelter against all errors, doubts and fears, and a rest-ing place, where his spirit may securey enjoy the undisturbed possession of

And a long pull describes the pathway of a woman afflicted with female weakness unless she is under the care of a doctor who has had successful experience in the treatment of such cases or else has found the right remedy which can be safely used independently of the doctor.

Forty years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce found that women were being grossly maltreated—mainly through ignorance and carelessness, and he determined to devote himself to study and research till he found the real cause of their suffering and a proper remedy for it.

He found it, and dug from Nature's Laboratory, the earth, Nature's remedies for woman's weaknesses and allments. He found in Lady's Slipper root, Black Cohosh root, Unicorn root, Blue Cohosh root and Golden Seal root, the required ingredients.

The remedial virtues of these he extracted, combined and preserved by his own peculiar non-alcoholic, glyceric processes, and the compound is now known the world over, as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Senor Quesada, Cuban Minister to the United States, is an orator born. In an article in The Outlook for July, 1899, by Georgo Kennan, who heard Quesada speak at the Esteban Theater, Mantanzas, Cuba, he said: "I have seen many audiences under the spell of eloquent speech and in the grip of strong emotional excitement; but I have rarely witnessed such a scene as at the close of Quesada's eulogy upon the dead patriot, Marti." Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"Some four years ago my usually good health began to fail. I had severe pains in my back, my head ached, I would have dizzy spells, and during my monthly periods I would suffer intense pain. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so glad that I did, for it brought new life and health to me. My monthly periods were natural and painless, and my general health improved. I have not had an ache or a pain since, and I feel it a duty as well as a pleasure to tell you what your medicine has done for me."

PERIL IN FLANNELETTE.

Deaths by Burning in London Attracts Attention.

The British Home Office authorities re collecting statistics as to the are collecting statistics as to the number of deaths caused by the wearing of flannelette clothing, with a view to legislation on the subject. Wynne Baxter, East London coroner, made this announcment at an in-quest concerning the death of Dora Zullo, the wife of an artist. She was combing her hair in front of the fire when her flannelette dressing gown was set alight, and she died from her injuries.

The coroner, after mentioning the official action which was being taken, commented on the peril arising from the wearing of flannelette, and said the number of fatal cases seemed to be on the increase.

A similar cause of death was also investigated by the Preston coroner, a child, three years old, dying owing to injuries received by her flannelet anight dress catching fire.

"There is not an atom of flannel in flannelette," remarked the coroner. "Flannelette is merely a name, and the material is all cotton. It is a good deal more dangerous than flanger or the corollary regular country. nel or ordinary cotton cloth.

TURKEYS.

The well fattened plump turkeys always command top price and as prices are so high this year it will pay well to feed liberally to get all the size and development as possible. Turkeys that have the range of the farm and woods have a better flavor firmer flesh than the corn and fowls kept up in a pen, but liberal feed in the greatest variety of wheat, oats, buckwheat, barley and corn will give size and plenty of gown fat and lean.

On most farms turkeys have the run of the fields and may be industriously picking their living through the stubble fields as soon as the crops are off. This is the said treatment in which turkeys delight.
d to The fresh air and exercise are good for them, and in their perambula-tions they manage to pick up all the grit and green food they require, while insects afford them a change of diet in the meat line. The color rose to Guildford Ber-on's haggard face. To be in the ton's haggard face. "Thank you, you are very kind. I should be glad to run up for a few days, but a little later on. These matters you have mentioned must be seen to, and at once."

"You are always thoughtful and considerate, Guildford. Come up to us, by all means, and as soon as you can.

Norah did not indorse the invitation, but sat, her eyes bent upon her plate. She spoke little during the meal, and rose with a feeling of relief when the butler brought in the port.

Guildford Berton sipped his wine and talked, doing his best to amuse the earl, and it was not until they had got up to join Norah in the drawing-room that he said, quite carelessly:

"Oh, about letters. You will have them forwarded, I suppose?" and he kept his eyes down, as he waited breathlessly for the reply which would mean so much to him.

"Yes, I suppose so. It is a nuisance, however."

"Let me see," said Guildford Berton; "you don't want to be troubled with business letters about the estate, and circulars, and all that kind of thing. I will tell the postoffice people to send them to me, and weed there are heaven. them out before I send them to you. I can detect a business letter by

He went into the library and sat down to one of the writing tables, but as he laid the sheet of note-paper, with its gold-emblazoned paper, with its gold-emblazoned crest, before him and took up a pen, a sudden suspicion that he was not alone came over him. He glanced over his shoulder cautiously, and with a haggard smile, for he knew that the suspicion was a mere fancy; but he looked round nevertheless, and it seemed to him that a shade, a formless shape, was hovering cloud-like at the end of the room. He got up, and as he approached, the shape appeared to grow less distinct and vanish; but at one moment it had, appeared to his mind, taken the form of Becca, and its face wore the expression of horror which had appeared on hers when she turned and saw him approaching her with tied over his mouth. with the handkerchief

Lady Ferndale and other ladies had assured her that it would be empty; but it seemed to Norah that a great many families were still in town, and she thought that the park looked still very green and pretty from her bedroom window which, it turned out, was the best in the house. She had to thank Mr. the house She had to thank Mr. Guildford Berton for that. She had also to thank him for the well-appointed brougham which she found at her disposal; for the stock of library books which stood on the drawing-room side table; for the regular supply of flowers which came every morning from she knew not where, little guessing that he saw them cut each morning from the Court greenhouses. the house.

Lady Ferndale had acted as courier in advance, by writing to all her friends an enthusiastic description of Lady Norah Arrowdale, and Norah was astonished by the number of callers and the invitations which poured in upon her.

But for the first few days she was too unwell to go out. The earl wish-ed to send for Sir Andrew, but Norah persuaded him to "give her a few days," as she put it, and spent those few days of grace seated by her win-dow, looking out at the park, and watching with listless, sorrow-laden eyes the few horsewomen who still haunted the row, and the nursehaunted the row, and the nurse-maids, with their children, and long-legged guardsmen, who, whatever the were always on view.

At the end of the week, and by the time Lady Ferndale had arrived, she had managed to leave her room, and she fancied that she saw a smile of welcome on the earl's face that was almost tender.

Indeed, he rose from his chair, and took her hand, and he looked into her face, paler and thinner than would have seemed possible for a few

Use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

Rheumatism is a disease of the blood. Every doctor now admits this to be the fact. Doctors used to think that rheumatism was brought on by colds in the joints and mus-cles. Now they know that cold never-started the disease—cold only sets the pains going. Rheumatism can the pains going. Rheumatism can only be cured by curing the bad blood which causes it. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always cures rheumatism, because they actually make new, rich red blood, which drives out the poisonous acids, loosens the stiffened aching joints and muscles and re-stores the rheumatic sufferer to health and happiness. An Oid-Time Sermon as to the Need of a Church in the Home of Every Family.

In a sermon "concerning family religion, preached by the celebrated Matthew Henry, at London, England, on Sunday, April 16, 1704, is found the following remarkable passage, which will be particularly interesting now that renewed attention is being directed to this important subject.

After the usual introduction, the preacher proceeded thus:

The lesson then which I would re-commend to you from this text ("With the church that is in their house," I Cor. 16:19), is this: That the families of Christians should be little churches; or thus that where little churches; or thus, that where-ever we have a house, God should have a church in it.

Unhappy contests there have been, and still are, among wise and good men about the constitution, order and government of churches. God by his grace heal these breaches; lead the interest of the street of the stre us into all truth and dispose our minds to love and peace; that while we endeavor herein to walk according to the light God has given us, we may charitably believe that others do so, too; longing to be there where we shall

ALL BE OF ONE MIND.

But I am now speaking of churches concerning which there is no controversy. All agree that masters of families who profess religion, and the fear of God themselved, should, according to the talents they are introduced with residents they are introduced by trusted with, maintain and keep up religion and the fear of God in their families, as those who must give account; and that families, as such should contribute to the support of Christianity in a nation, whose hon-or and happiness it is to be a Christian nation. As nature makes familittle kingdoms, so grace makes families little churches, and those were the primitive churches of the were the primitive churches of the Old Testament, before men began to call upon the name of the Lord in solemn assembles, and the sons of God came together to present themselves before him.

Not that I would have these family churches set up and kept up in competition with, much less in contradiction to, public religious assemblies which ought always to have the preference: "The Lord loves the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob" (Ps. 87:2), and so must we; and must not forsake the assembling of ourselves together, under color of exhorting one another daily at home. Far be it from us to offer anything that may countenance invading of the office of the ministry, or laying it in common, and the usurping or superseding of the ail-ministration of sacraments. No, but these family churches—which are but figuratively so-must be erected and maintained in subordination to those more sacred and

Let those who are setting out the world then set up a church in their house at first, and not defer it Plead not youth and bashfulness, if you have confidence enough to rule a family, I hope you have confidence enough to pray with a family.

Let those who have a church in their house, be very careful to adorn and beautify it in their conversation. If you pray in your families, and read the Scriptures, and sings psalms and yet are passionate and forward with your relatives, quarrelsome and with your relatives, quarrelsome and contentious with your neighbors, unjust and deceitful in your dealings, or allow yourselves in any other sinful way, you pull down with one hand what you build up with the other. "Be not deceived, God is not mocked."

Are your houses on God's houses? Are they dedicated to him, and employed for him? If so, be of good comfort, his home in heaven shall be yours shortly: For in my Father's house there are many mansions, and there is one, you may be sure for each of each of you, who thus continuance in well-doing seek for glory, honor and immortality."

relations between That the relations between the United States and Germany will occupy much of the time of the committees of the two houses of congress this winter, which deal with all subjects affecting our foreign relations, is looming ominously into importance, writes a Washington correspondent

That this subject for months has been forced upon the attention of the administration for serious sideration is well known by everybody who is on terms of intimacy with any of the members of President Roosevelt's cabinet. That the dent Roosevelt's cabinet. The cancelleries of Europe have concerned for a year or more quite as much about it as any other subject of world politics, even the Russo-Japanese war being a scarcely excepted, is a matter of knowledge among that element of men who keep pace with the larger affairs of world.

The subject is yet in such a mative state that it has not been formally or ceremoniously discussed, even between the diplomats of the two nations immediately involved, though for a year or more it has been a principal theme of inquiry and surmise in the informal pour-pariers of statesmen and diplomats capitals of Europe, America and Asia.

The almost universal conclusion of every intelligent analysis made of the situation is that the strain on the relations of the two countries is rapidly becoming greater, and that unless wise statesmanship, buttressed by forbearance, prevails, both at Washington and Berlin, for the next few years, a condition of affairs will that will require tremely delicate handling to avert another of the series of interna-tional tragedies which have so shocked civilization within the past few decades.

CAUSED ROOT'S APPOINTMENT.

It is known that this situation was one of the chief causes that induced President Roosevelt fairly force Elihu Root to re-enter public life, which avowedly is distasteful to Mr. Root's family, and is not especially attractive to him, in view of the great financial sacrifice he compelled to make when he abandoned his big law practice to take hold of the tangled skein of state department matters.

As the principal adviser, successively, of two presidents and the substitute for John Hay on numerous occasions when the latter's ill health forced him to absent himself frequently for long periods from his desk in Washington. Mr. Root familiarized himself with our foreign relations in detail; so that when his life-long friend, Mr. Roosevelt, appealed to him to accept the state department portfolio on the death of John Hay, Mr. Root, it can be stated authoritatively, regarded it both as a personal and patriotic duty to comply.

In the important sense, then, "The having at the head of the state departing at the head of the property acquainted with the chief problems of international scope with which the administration is confronted, the United States may be considered as being placed at least on equal terms in the game with Germany. that the kaiser's chancellery lacking in any of the essential ments of experienced statesmanship or diplomacy, but that this country, no less than President Roosevelt, to be congratulated on the fact that when John Hay was suddenly strick-

It is argued from this, that unless some acute agitation of the question should cause a vigorous assertion by this country of the Monroe Doctrine, within the next few years, Germany's influence may be so firmly established in Brazil that after a established in Brazil that after a while something more than a mere verbal assertion of that doctrine may be made incumbent upon the government of the United States. In this connection an incident of recent happening is causing no little annoyance in high circles in Washington. The Hamburg-American Steamship line which in times can Steamship line, which, in time of war, would become a regular aux-iliary of the German navy, has acquired a lease on wharfage proper-ties in the Danish West Indies, which are to be utilized as a coaling station.

Just what the German-American line wants with either wharves or a coaling station in the Danish West Indies cannot be comprehended here, unless it be that this move is only another assertion by Emperor William of his fixed determination to ignore point by point our Monroe Doctrine, until he makes a veritable sieve of that whole fabric.

WEST INDIES DEAL FAILED.

It will be recalled that this coun-It will be recalled that this country had agreed to purchase the Danish West Indies about three years ago, and that the deal dropped through at the last moment because of mysterious influences on the other side of the Atlantic, that have never been setisfectorily explained. It is now surmised that have never been setisfectorily explained. It is now surmised that the kaiser's hand played a deciding part in that game to the undoing of the United States. It is thought that the circumstance of the Hamburg-American line acquiring wharfage and coaling rights in St. Thomas Island will be sharply inquired into by congress this winter.

Another question touching Ger-

Another question touching Germany's even more directly offensive aggressions in that quarter of the world probably will come up in the fifty-ninth congress. This pertains to the survey of the harbor of Cule-bra which was made by the German cruiser Panther two years ago. Culebra is a small island off the coast of Porto Rico, which is planned to become our chief naval base in the West Indies. Without saying much as by your leave, and with full knowledge of what use this govern-ment was intending to make of Culebra Island and harbor, the com-mander of the Panther entered that harbor over the protest of the lone marine sentinel stationed near, the entrance and made a complete

The results of his work were forwarded to the naval intelligence of-fice at Berlin, and when our naval attache at that capital learned it by accident he was graciously granted permission to make a copy of the Panther commander's map and survey of Culebra harbor and harbor and forward it to Washington.

Navy officers stationed here characterize this as a bit of impertin-inence for which Germany, and especially the German navy, is becoming notorious in relation to the United States.

Instances of Germany's aggressions against the United States quite similar to the Culebra matter might be multiplied indefinitely if it were not for the probable danger of involving some high government officials in embarrassing explanations to the German embassy. Suffice it to say that the relations between the two nations have become so irritated within the last year or two that a comparison of the effective fighting strength of the navies of the United States and Germany is a common occurrence, now on the part of

The view of the future which Malachi presents is that of a future at once awful and greatly to be desired; awful, because of the summary judgment which is to come upon Israel; desirable, because of coming of the Lord himself to his temple to purge his people and pour out upon them such an abundance of blessing that all nations shall call them blessed.

WHEN ARE WE STRONGEST?

The muscles, in common with the organs of the body, have their stages of development and decline; our physical strength increases up to a certain age, and then decreases. Tests of the strength of several thousands of people have been made, and cussion of this subject in Washing-the following are given as the aver- ton. WHERE THE DANGER LIES.

With these preliminaries in mind, perhaps a better understanding can be gained of what is to follow in a frank attempt to explain the danger to the unbroken peace of the United States and Germany that lurks behind Germany's aggressive commercial policy. In a carefully worded utterance a few days ago Secretary Root abandoned his customary policy of silence, and gave, through the press, an intimation to the paratively small circle of people acquainted with what is going on be-hind the scenes, that he was prepared to urge a conciliatory course upon congress this winter by insisting that some substantial tariff concessions be made to Germany at as date as practicable early -at the date that will circumvent the dan-mud ger that is sure to ensue if the kaiser enforces rigidly against imports from the United States the retaliatory prohibitive tariff provided in Germany's latest tariff law, which is scheduled to go into effect March.

It has been satisfactorily proved that a London fog means a gen loss to trade, but as it is an general fog that brings nobody any good, there is one trader who benefits largely by a murky atmospere. When he sees a fog the chemist positively rejoices.

The moment the fog descends he illumines his glass bottles, summons all his assistants, rubs his hands, and waits. And he has not long to

When he did this, he drew in his horns until they could not be seed. Then he tried to cross the water and to reach the side of the dish.

If there is a dull one, help him to learn his lesson.

If there is a bright one, be not envious of him; for if one boy is proud of his talents and another is envious of them, there are two great wrongs, and no more talent than before. It was thought before his birth that the little Grand Duchess Oiga, who is now ten years old, might be declared the Czar's heir in case no son was born. The tiny princess as a child showed unusual spirit and so imperious a will that the Russian people had come to expect that she would be declared heir apparent to the throne. the throne

The whole court is said to be devoted to the child, and it seemed a settled matter that Olga Nikolasvna might succeed her father when the coming of her three sisters made the appearance of a male heir more and more doubtful. The only opposion to this plan was expected from

The birth of a son settled all these problems of succession and delivere i the Russian people from the possibility of being ruled by one of the grand ducal group.

These royal young ladies have been

Only a short time ago they could be seen driving through the streets of St. Petersburg in a large landau. They are difficult to keep in a dignified position in their imperial equipage, as an eye witness described them a little more than a very seed. more than a year ago. She said: The three elder ones seem to rove

Once again the nurses with kindly hands place their valuable charges in more decorous positions. But half a minute later the whole arrangement is again upset. And so it goes on

One of them asked lately, with much earnestness, 'Who does St. Petersburg belong to?' To which the reply was given that it belonged to their papa. "Yes?" replied the little Grand

"No, you didn't!" replied the Grand Duchess Olga abruptly, and with dignity. "You saw four little Grand Duchesses."

Fashion Notes.

Any woman whose features come anywhere near being regular has gone in for the new braided coffure, just for a change, and if she doesn't wear it on the street, then she keeps it for her house tollettes When completed the coffure looks the essence of simplicity. It is nothing more than the drawing of the hair to the nape of the neck very loosely and the twisting of a braid all around the head. That's what it looks like, but when you came to do it you find it is far more difficult to manage than the Rommey effect with which nevices have wrestled for several research. which nevices have wrestled for several seasons. RUSSIAN GRAND DUKES

TOTTERI NG HOUSE OF THE ROMANOFFS.

Those Whose Fate Depend Upon the Results of the Present Disturbances.

It used to be a favorite pastime of the poet Pushkin to pour water into a glass of wine until so little wine remained that it hardly imparted the slightest taste or color to the gollet's contents. This was by way let's contents. showing how little Russian blood remained in the Romanoffs, who have since Peter the Great been the reigning family of Russia.

The Ruriks, when they were driven from power, were a pure blooded Russian line. But intermarriages with German wives have made the imperial family of to-day almost wholly German, by blood if not by sympathy.
It was with Michael Feederovitch

Romanoff, who was succeeded by Alexis, that the Romanoffs in 1613 began to rule Russia. Older Russian descendants of the Rurik families descendants of the furth lamines naturally looked upon them as usurpers. Prince Peter Dolgoruki did not hesitate so late as the time of the Czar Nicholas I. to make his opinion on that matter known.

The Emperor had summoned him-from Paris, where he was acting as Secretary of the Russian Embassy, because of a letter he had written which did not please the Czar. The because Prince sent word that he would send his photograph to St. Petersburg in-With this affer he reminded sty that his ancestors "were stead. his Majesty that his ancestors Grand Dukes of Moscow when the an-cestors of the Czar Nicholas were cestors of the Czar Nicholas wer not even Dukes of Holstein-Cottorp.

The children of the Czar now number five. The youngest of these young Romanons is Alexis Nicolaievitch, which means, of course, the son of Nicholas.

This young man, who is heir to the throne of all the Russias, is now lit-tle more than a year old. But he is already Hetman of all the Cossack troops in Russia, commander of a regiment of the Guard in Finland -if that honor still remains to him it is rather an empty one now-and he occupies the same post in three or four other regiments scattered over the vast domains of his father from St. Petersburg to eastern Siberia.

It was at his birth that the Nihilists declared the Czarina had giver the Czar another daughter and imposed on the people the child of a peasant. A revolt of some kind might have followed the birth of an-other daughter to the Czarina, and the Nihilists urged that it was to prevent such a disaster that the child was taken from a peasant who had been smuggled into the palace. penefit The story never gained credence and the devotion of the Russian people band to the little heir has never faltered

The Grand Duke Michael was heir apparent until the birth of the little Czarevitch. He was born 1878, and is thus ten years younger than the Czar. He has never ried, and his health is poor.

The member of the Grand Ducal party who has most influence with the Czar is the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, who married the Czar's favorite sister, the Grand Duchess Xenia. They are the only couple among all the Grand Ducal retinue who have the reputation of lating the couple among the couple among the couple among the couple among the couple of the coupl living on good terms with each other.

THE WIFE AS MANAGER.

"You can rely upon it," said that the man keen business man, that the man whose wife is managing his salary for him is prosperous. When I see a man that I happen to know hand all his earnings over to his wife, I set him down as getting along well. He has started on the right road to get rich, for in nine cases out of ten he is saving something. And a fact which he is apt to overlook is that if he only spends a little less than he makes, he is bound to get rich. A woman who manages hen hpsband's salary will help him to do this nearly every time, as women are meaner Some men find it impossible to save money, and a man has got to spend less than he makes before he can begin to get along. nore ne can begin to get along. The man whose wife is enough of a man-ager to help him get to this point by taking care of his money for him may consider himself fortunate."

These may appear to be usaful, owing to their ability to rem ve a certain amount of coloring matter and floating materials, but as usually employed they fall far short of the necessary degree of efficiency, and may even be directly a source of added danger apart from the false sease of security they inspire.

Unless such filters are quently taken, apart and thoroughly cleansed, bacteria are apt to through freely, and even to multiply in the filter itself, so that number of germs in the water that is drawn off may actually be increased instead of diminished.

There is but one safe way for consumer to deal with a doubtful water-supply. If enough suspicion attaches to the water to make the use of a filter seem desirable, conditions are such that ha that half-way measures are out of place, and only absolute sterilization can be considered. Every drop of such water in-tended for table use should be thor-oughly beiled. MADOLE & WILSON,

A very solemn and impressive fun-eral took place at St. Luke's church, Camden East, when all that was mor-tal of Mrs. William Smith was laid to rest Monday December 11st. The dignified and beautiful, burial office of the Church of England breathing, and Inspiration was read by the Rev. E. Radcliffe who also preached a sermon. Hymns 254, 257, 499 were well rendered by the Grganist and choir, The congregation was very large and attentive. The pall bearers were the three sons of Mrs. Smith Roy, Orval and Everton, Albert Williamson, Fred-erick Eagle and Frank Trumper. A handsome floral tribute was laid on the coffin. Everything in connection with the funeral was carried out efficiently by Mr. Dunwoody of Newburgh. The deepest sympathy is felt in the community for Mr. Smith and his family,

The question now is what to buy for Christmas. Call at Smith's Jewellry store and the question can be settled. Every article they sell this Christmas is neatly boxed.

Presentation to a Retiring Colleague. The staff of the Ogilvie Flour Mills company, in anticipation of the removal from Winnipeg of Mr. L. H. Bennett, on Saturday presented him with a handsome mahogany music cabinet and de luxe volume of "Golden Tressury of Song," accompanied by an address containing the names of the various members of the staff. names of the various members of the season.

In the address expression was given to the fraternal feeling existing between him and other members of the staff and regret at his prospective departure from the city.

The gift was an especially appropriate ne. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett having been active members of the city's Musical circle during the five or six years sojonrn here. Ecis In Scotland, Although eels abound in Scotch waters and are caught in great quantities, they are not considered fit food there. No matter how plentiful and how very fine and large they may be in any district of Scotland, no native will eat one. The objection to the cel is said to be based on its serpent-like appearance and the fact that it is not overfastidious as to what it feeds on. Tons of choice eels for the London market are taken from streams that are not conspicuously free from sewage.

The "Bummaree."

That not very elegant word, supposedly an Americanism, "bummer," is said to be descended from the English "bummaree," itself centuries old. if not very literary in the company it has kept, A "bummaree" was a person who peddled fish outside the regular fish market. Naturally such a person was in disfavor with the dealers in the established markets. The "bumma-rees" were accused of cheating and selling worthless wares, hence the disagreeable significance of its linguistic descendant.

Something To Please a Woman.

"DY-O-LA" is a revelation to every woman at first. It seems too good to be true that one package of "DY O-LA" will color silk, cotton, woolen and mixed goods—or all four—This is just what "DY-O-LA" will do—and color more dyes to the package than any other. "DY O-LA" contains so acid to injure even the most delicate fabrics, and does not stain the hands or boiler. Best in every way for coloring at home. Druggiets everywhere have "DY-O-LA" in 10 cent packages. Color card sent on receipt of 2, stamp. The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, Canada.

The Way They Ran and the Style of Track They Used.

"In the foot races of the ancient Greeks," says a writer, "the shape of the stadium caused a great difference, since it was not circular, but long and narrow, with one or both ends semicir-cular. Consequently the runners had to take a sharp turn at the end of each lap, while except at the turn they were running a straight course. Evidently this turn needed much practice, for the pictures on the old vases show athletes practicing this one part of the race as a kind of drill, taking each movement separately.

"In early times, when all the runners turned round the same post, the turn gave opportunities for foul play, and there are stories of one competitor tripping another at the post or seizing him by the hair to prevent his winning. But later, in the shorter distances at least, each runner had his own track and post to turn round, and probably the separate courses were roped off in much the same way as they are now in sprint races. For the start elaborate arrangements were made and at Olympla the stone slabs are still to be seen, with the grooves at regular intervals that had to be toed at starting. "Greek long distance men ran in the most approved style of the present day. But the sprinters apparently employed a considerable amount of arm action and took very long steps, rising well on to the toes. Then there was the race in armor an event highly praiged

Science of Bell Ringing.

It was Sunday morning, and the bell ringer had just finished ringing the chimes that called the godly to church. "Bell ringing is a science. Did you know that?" he said. "It is called campanology, and there are abstruse and technical terms in it, like 'Kent treble bob,' 'Stedman cinques,' 'double court bob,' 'dodges,' 'noils' and 'stingoes.' Each of these terms defines a certain phase or kind of bell ringing. In England there is a society, the Central Council of Bell Ringers, that every campanologist desires ardently to belong to. Maybe you think bell ringing is simple? Do you know what a peal is? A peal in ringers' parlance is a series of 5,000 changes rung upon a chime, no change occurring more than
